Help Us Impact the Lives of Our Youth

Become a GA Money Coach

Research shows that highly interactive, reality-based courses in money management that provide intensive and applied instruction in personal finance are more effective in development financially competent teens. Also, researchers state that schools alone cannot tackle the task of preparing financially literate youth.

We have a unique opportunity to help young people develop financial skills and gain experiences they need to become efficient successful adults. Our creative approach to teaching was designed to simulate real-life experiences to help make youth aware of the money management skills they need to be productive and successful members of society. Students will walk away understanding the link between educational attainments and earnings power as well as the proper use of credit and the impact of debt on future wealth building.

If you have ONE hour a month or TEN hours a month - you can join in and make a difference.

Please consider joining our team of professionals that will be making an impact in the lives of students this upcoming year!

We make it fun!

We have developed a way to teach and learn personal finance topics in creative and exciting ways!

My MoneyLIFE!

Money Skills for the Future

My Money Life! is a large-format, experiential, real-life simulation where volunteers, school administrators and teachers help students learn what it takes to manage life as a 27-year young working professional.

Offered in partnership with schools, community organizations and agencies, My MoneyLIFE! gives young people (middle school to college age) the opportunity to imagine their lives as young employed adults. They are given random occupations, they find out their incomes and then are required to estimate taxes to begin the simulation. They then visit tables and interact with adult volunteers as they make common spending decisions. Through the learning exercise, they learn about managing money, living within their means, identifying spending priorities, saving and dealing with unexpected expenses.

helping families find their path to prosperity

The GA Money Coach and the My MoneyLife! Initiatives were developed by RightPath working with professional volunteers from non-profit, banking, real estate, education, and other financial literacy disciplines. The focus is on delivering a meaningful learning experience to students that will provide lifelong personal finance skills so students avoid financial pitfalls, and prosper in our always-challenging financial world.

It is our goal to organize and solicit partner organizations to support these efforts. With the help of local bank and credit union employees, insurance, investment and real estate professionals, we will begin to support schools and students around the metro-Atlanta area in the fall of 2018.

If you are interested in participating, please contact us to organize a brief planning meeting or click the link below and add your name to your growing list of professionals that see the benefit in supporting our local youth and this initiative.
